
Double-headed arrows: transmission in both directions with a shared coefficient. Each population also transmits within itself (not drawn). Commercial poultry and reassortment hosts have no direct pathway to the general population; no pathway links wild birds to reassortment hosts.